Weekly
WORD

Our hope lies in our Resurrected
Lord

This life is but a journey; a journey of faith and hope. We must not settle for what is limited in the flesh, but desire for the far more glorious life we were meant to live, in our Glorious Christ!

Like the wedding attendants, we must have expectant faith and hope, and look for greater possibilities just like our Blessed Mother did in her life. She totally believed in the love, joy, and peace that God had to offer, and this is exactly what God offers us today, as well. Imagine being offered the keys to this kingdom! If we trust in this great truth, let us not settle for less! Let us embrace His all transforming love. This is true wisdom – to recognize the truth offered to us, and to strive to live it out. “In God alone lies rest for my soul... He alone is my rock, my safety, my stronghold so that I stand unshaken...trust in Him...Pour out your hearts to Him...”

So be sure to carry the oil of this wisdom – love, faith and hope – with you, whatever your circumstances. He is ready to love and accept us. Know that He yearns to shelter us, and immerse us in the light of His great love! A light that darkness can never extinguish! Let us stand ready to be transformed, and to welcome the Lord Jesus, our Saviour, at every moment in our lives!

May our lamps of love for our Lord burn in our hearts as we wait to keep our appointment with Him! Let us not be “late”! May we meet the lover of our souls with open arms and heartfelt yearning for Him! †
