PARISH PRIEST SPEAKS

"You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind, and with all your strength....You shall love your neighbour as yourself."

Mark 12: 30-31

In the Gospel, Jesus does not allow the first commandments to stand alone. Although love of God comes first, it must always be complemented by what comes second, love of neighbor. Thus, he immediately adds, "The second is this: You shall love your neighbor as yourself. There is no other commandment greater than these." These two commandments are inseparable. As Pope Francis says, "they are two sides of a single coin: experienced together they are a believer's strength!" When we recognize that love of God and neighbor is "worth more than all burnt offerings and sacrifices," worth more than all our busy efforts to prove that we are useful, and when we live according to this divinely revealed law, then we are "not far from the Kingdom of God." The Kingdom is near us, even within us, when we love. Moreover, the love we have for our neighbor takes on infinite value when we unite it with the sacrifice of Christ, which he renews on the Eucharistic altar.

What and who has priority in my life? How do I respond in words and actions that God matters most to me in my life? Why do I find difficult to love God with all my heart, soul, mind and strength?
